After there full length entitled Here We Are, AGT returned to Rodent Popsicle for this great EP recorded in 2003. Musically the same style of Boston chaos punk that made them popular with some obvious growth and maturity from their previous releases. It's still as aggressive as ever but the band is clearly progressing while staying true to their original sound! Some say this is there best release to date both in song writing and sound production quality.

Two unique yet similar Boston based bands on this new split full-length album. Both of these bands exist on the fringe of musical categorization but basically fall within the realm of Acoustic, Folk and Gypsy Punk. ABSINTHE ROSE is a newer Boston area band, the brainchild of singer/songwriter/guitarist Kimbo Rose and was originally established in Medford/Ashland Oregon during the summer of 2008. After relocating to Boston, MA in 2009 she began working with a rhythm section consisting of well-seasoned Boston area music veterans. HUMANWINE is a longstanding Boston local favorite with core members M@ McNiss and Holly Brewer accompanied by a revolving cast of musicians since their inception in 2002. Though not a band that pursues or cares for mainstream attention they have gained a large local following and have been nominated and won many Boston area music awards over the years. Both bands have strong DIY ethic and mix many various styles of music with political, personal and apocalyptic subject matter.

- ABSINTHE ROSE / HUMANWINE Are Well Known In The Boston Area

INFORMATION:

Artist Hometown: Groningen, Holland

For Fans of: AMEBIX, CITIZEN FISH, DISCHARGE, SUBHUMANS

"Say what? Doom-laden reggae? Ska with crust overtones? From a purely visual standpoint, it was pretty easy to write this band off, or at least assume I knew exactly what I was getting. You know: brutal name in scary font. Dead bird on cover. Skull on back cover. LP version on Profane Existence, et cetera. This is me generalizing, right? The jaded reviewer who's heard it all. Then I put the CD in the player and for a few minutes I'm hearing pretty much what I expected. Then the third song, "World War 3 Is Coming" hits my ears and... they're playing reggae. Yes, it's filtered through back patches and a big love for AMEBIX. Yes, the guy's still belting his guts out. Yes, their pedals are still in the red. But I'll be goddamned if they're not playing a weird reggae/ska/crust amalgamation on at least half of this record. And I'm not talking CITIZEN FISH "clean guitars with horns" either - this stuff's ugly. It's dark, dense, and simultaneously manages to be toe-tapping and mired neck-deep in gloom. Lyrics are despondent and generally pretty fucking hopeless. While they're are moments on DFT that aren't quite as successful, there's a lot more that showcases a band that's just on, and doing it by melding two genre I wouldn't have tried pairing up in a million years. So if you want to measure a band's success by radio play and online downloads this won't do much for you. But if you want to measure success by the fact that they've consistently engaged the listener and kept shit really interesting throughout fourteen songs, the MOUTH SEWN SHUT is coming out on top!" --Kieth Rosson, RAZORCAKE 41

"Their sound is a brutal a fusion of crust core, hardcore and mutant ska/reggae fused with a lightning paced delivery and suitably manic vocal technique, an awesome wall of sound punctuated by sudden tempo changes and driven by an incredibly vigorous rhythm section. Their own take on ska and reggae sees MSS adding their hyper energetic approach to the medium, supplementing it with a harder core and dirtier edge. There's a strongly political angle running through the album although it rarely, if ever, gets preachy or holier than thou. A forceful and convincing collection of cutting edge DIY punk."

Over the years TOXIC NARCOTIC has gained a reputation for extremely tight and energetic live shows. This DVD captures the true aggression and brutality of a TOXIC NARCOTIC show (with no overdubs) in a way that none of their studio albums have done so far. Boston's longest standing DIY Hardcore Punk band filmed live at their fifteenth anniversary show on Dec 18th 2004. Filmed with five camera angles and the audio was multi tracked with a mobile recording truck. This is a one hundred percent DIY DVD produced and released by the band on their own label but looks and sounds totally professional like any major label live video with plenty audience participation in the final edit this video is sure to become a classic. And of course let's not forget the real stars of this video— the Boston Punk and Hardcore scene!

- DVD Includes 22 Songs Professionally Filmed & Recorded in 5.1 Surround Sound

For Fans of: DISCHARGE, CHAOS UK, CHARGED GBH, AMEBIX

THE VARUKERS are one of the UK's longest standing anarcho-punk bands remaining relevant and active for all these years! Formed in 1979 and since day one hit the streets running, never satisfied with their lot their constant hard touring, hard drinking and hard hitting music has kept them at the top of their game! While other veteran UK bands have toned down with age THE VARUKERS still remain fierce and uncompromising. With a DIY ethic and a "give it some bollocks" attitude the band shows no sign of slowing down. This is the long overdue reissue of the now out of print Murder LP with the mid-'90s line-up. Fifteen tracks of the same kind of politically charged, powerful punk rock that made them famous in the 80's. As a bonus, this release includes all four tracks from their Nothing's Changed EP, making this a complete collection of their '90s studio recordings digitally re-mastered for this release. For a band of such stature and notoriety there's not a lot of vinyl available from this band presently!

Marketing Points:

- First Pressing Consists of 500 White Vinyl & 500 Black & White Quartered Vinyl!
- Complete Collection of THE VARUKERS '90s Recordings
- If You Had a Penny for Every VARUKERS Patch You've Seen, You'd Be Rich!
