King Of The Nighttime World was the tune that should have been a blockbuster hit for THE HOLLYWOOD STARS in 1974 but the record was shelved by CBS and covered by KISS when pitched to them by co writer Kim Fowley two years later. THE HOLLYWOOD STARS would eventually put out their debut album in 1977 on another label and another set of tunes, but that's a story for another day.

King Of The Nighttime World would eventually be released in 2013 as part of the Shine Like A Radio LP that compiled the 1974 recordings that were to comprise the debut album, but Too Hot To Handle and Habits which were recorded in 1975 are completely unreleased and see the light of day for the first time on this limited edition 7" single.

For Fans of: WEEKEND NACHOS, TO THE POINT, EXTORTION, INFEST

LACK OF INTEREST have been doing this whole power-violence things around the time of when the term was first being thrown around. Whether or not if they jumped on this band wagon or if each member of LOI had been doing this way before the band got together isn't determined; but one thing for sure is their blunt, but hateful attack on all things that bother them (government, violence, tough guys, cops, anyone who has given the band a hard time, etc.). Clocking in at an estimated total of fifteen minutes, the 24 songs on TRAPPED INSIDE fly as a short burst of suckerpunches without leaving any room for one to take a breather. Now if only someone could teach their "singer" not to resemble the grunting of Tim Allen; at least there aren't any songs about power tools.

MARKETING POINTS:

- Originally released by Slap-A-Ham in 1999, it has since been out of print...until now!
- Limited to 500
- Colored Wax

For Fans of: LACK OF INTEREST, TO THE POINT, FETUS EATERS, INFEST. SICK/TIRED

WEEKEND NACHOS are a fairly typical example of modern powerviolence, combining the well known formula of mixing fast passages with slow passages. They also got this vocal style you can often hear in this genre, which is a weird form of hardcore shout which sounds kind of like something is stuck in the throat of the vocalist.

Punish and Destroy was the first full length these blokes released back in 2007. Although I have to add that the last 17 tracks on here actually are from the Torture EP that they released 2 years before they put out this album.

Varied songs with tempo changes, heavy as hell sludge parts, raging fast powerviolence parts mid tempo hardcore rockers. Their later records basically expand on various elements already found here. They are also plain good songwriters. They know when to shift gears drastically in terms of both increasing the tempo as slowing all the way down. If you like to mosh this is perfect for some of that. The sound also is really damn good for a debut album. Everything sounds full and powerful. The bonus tracks from the EP also sound good but a bit rawer.

If you are new to powerviolence this is a good record to start with. This is very well produced and not as rampantly chaotic as some of the more extreme bands like say Sick/Tired or my personal favorite modern powerviolence band The Afternoon Gentlemen. They already show that they are skilled song and riff writers here and they would only get better at that game. Come on and join us in the pit.

MARKETING POINTS:

- Original press is out of print...This repress puts it back on the market.
- Black Wax - which Japan is gushing over right now.
- Limited Edition.

The Mechanisms Of Consequence
Brain Spark Edition

1. Truths That Wake
2. A Man Dies
3. I Am The Ghost
4. Your Cold Dead Trace
5. Irresistible Shade

INFORMATION:

Artist Hometown: Norwich, UK

Key Markets: Worldwide Metal Community

For Fans of: QUEENSRËCHE, NEVERMORE, WATCHTOWER, PSYCHOTIC WALTZ, CONTROL DENIED and EVERGREY

Since forming in 2012 from the ashes of such bands as FIFTH SEASON, INNER SANCTUM, and TWISTED AUTUMN DARKNESS, the primary concern of Norwich, England's SYNAPTİK has been musical intensity. Compartmentalizing SYNAPTİK's approach is as futile as attempting to cage a wild animal, but nevertheless traits of progressive metal seem ubiquitous, and a dark aura tends to cloak the band's output.

When SYNAPTİK's debut, The Mechanisms of Consequence, was released in 2014, the press reacted with bewilderment. Near-perfect reviews became the norm, and one factor that seemed to be particularly appreciated was the group's knack for fusing technical sophistication with traditional metal sonorities such as blast beats; powerful riffs; and screaming, Priest-styled melodic vocals.

In March of 2016, SYNAPTİK recorded their sophomore album-the epicly diverse Justify & Reason-with Meyrick de la Fuente at Floodgate Studios in London. Justify & Reason finds SYNAPTİK placing a greater emphasis on their progressive tendencies, but also contains some of the group's heaviest material to date. Lyrically, Justify & Reason ventures into the dark, labyrinthine corridors of the human psyche to examine the relationship between inner emotions and society at large-universal themes that transcend cultural and national boundaries. The end result is mandatory listening for fans of QUEENSRËCHE, NEVERMORE, WATCHTOWER and EVERGREY alike.

Available from Divebomb Records-who released a retrospective discography from INNER SANCTUM (a band whose lineup featured SYNAPTİK's Kev Jackson and Ian and John Knight) in 2013-the CD version of Justify & Reason will also include a freshly mixed take on the group's debut album, The Mechanisms of Consequence, as a second disc. Comprised of such cuts as "A Man Dies," "As I Am, As I Was," and "Your Cold Dead Trace" (which features a guest appearance from Alan Tecchio of WATCHTOWER/HADES fame), the material now sounds more vibrant than ever before.

With Justify & Reason, SYNAPTİK has raised the bar of progressive metal. Can you handle the intensity?

MARKETING POINTS:

- "Esc Ctrl" music video to be serviced to all metal media outlets upon release
- "The Incredible Machine" lyric video to be serviced before street to all metal media outlets.
- Features remixed version of debut album The Mechanisms of Consequence as second CD.
- Have performed at Bloodstock Open Air, Mammothfest and Titanfest
- Appeared with One Machine, Witchfynde, M-Pire Of Evil and Tytan

INFORMATION:

Artist Hometown: Los Angeles, CA & Aberdeen, UK

Key Markets: LA, NY, UK

For Fans of: DESPISE YOU, INFEST, CROSSED OUT, MAN IS THE BASTARD

DEADBEAT is seriously my new favorite band. Akin in my mind to MEHKAGO NT or FINALDRAFT but with lightning precision they have created a heavy hardcore, with grindcore riffs, and blistering angry vocals... to create some evil hybrid sound. Now you would think the other band would have to bring a lot after that statement, well BOAK from the UK is probably the most apt band to follow a side like that. Perfectly matched bands, one angry release. The album's lacquers were masterfully cut by Nick Townsend.

MARKETING POINTS:

- DEADBEAT features member of DESPISE YOU
- Full color cover and labels
- Intense heavy hardcore sound
- BOAK hails from the UK

INFORMATION:

Artist Hometown: Baltimore MD & Chicago IL

Key Markets: MD, IL, NY

For Fans of: TORCH RUNNER, NAILS, IRON LUNG, DESPISE YOU, INFEST

This is an unholy pairing of Baltimore's TRIAC and Chicago's SICK/TIRED and To Live A Lie's first split LP record release. The split is the best material to date of either band. TRIAC brings to the table their patented no-nonsense darkened grind hardcore that makes you feel a little uneasy. They are kind of like a NAILS that would let you be one of them. SICK/TIRED unleash their grindiest material that seems almost inspired by TRIAC. They still weave in some grindviolence and the opening track is almost a mincore song. A perfect pairing for 5pm when you're off work, sitting in rush hour traffic, and done with the day and people. Play this at max volume and your day will melt away.

MARKETING POINTS:

- Killer recording by both bands
- TRIAC features record producer Kevin Bersten from of Developing Nations Studios, who recorded MAGRUDERGRIND - Crusher
- SICK/TIRED is ex-MK ULTRA and this is their best material yet

Key Markets: SC, NC, DC, NY

For Fans of: MAGRUDERGRIND, ACXDC, PIG DESTROYER, TORCH RUNNER, NAILS, COFFINS

WVRM has crawled out of Greenville South Carolina and is PISSED. The band meshes perfectly together a precise grindcore sound with a darkened hardcore edge to it. Six lightning quick blasts on the first side and two angry evil longer tracks on the reverse. Sardonic, brooding, and generally misanthropic, Heartache will make your heart actually hurt a bit after listening to it for better or for worse. I highly suggest this record for when your hatred for humanity has reached a high threshold and you need something to release that feeling.

MARKETING POINTS:

- Amazing full color cover art by Matt Stikker
- Band recently won a recording with Kurt Ballou (CONVERGE, HIGH ON FIRE, TORCHE)
