INFORMATION:

For Fans of: HIS HERO IS GONE, TRAGEDY, ANTI-CIMEX, BATHORY, HELL HAMMER

Martyrdöd has always been one of the highlights of the Swedish d-beat pack, even before they blew the doors off the scene with the masterful Eldopp in 2014. Adding that Bathory-indebted sense of melody to the Anti-Cimex base that so many have used to such great effect, Martyrdöd stands taller than all but the best of d-beaters, and here, "War Of Worlds" is a fine example of how and why. Five minutes of catchy riffing, punk drumming, raw-throated screams, and melodic guitar leads - what's not to love?

Maryland's Neolithic of this split, and their take on filthy death / sludge is well-done, if not hugely memorable in this instance. ("Inner Adversary" rides tar-caked guitar tones through a crusty death metal first half, before slowing down to an appropriately sludgy crawl for the back half. It's in that back half that "Inner Adversary" shines most, with a simple and yet very effective riff and some almost blackened croaks from vocalist Evan Harting. Composed of current and former members of Swarm Of The Lotus, Putrisect, Pulling Teeth, and Ruiner,

For Fans of: UNTAMED YOUTH, THE MUMMIES, LOS STRAITJACKETS, DEKE DICKERSON AND THE ECCO-FONICS

The band name may be a bit of a challenge, but the music is pure unadulterated bliss. It's time to forget all those posturing pseudo tough guy bands spewing cliché-ridden/regurgitated angst (do we really need to recreate the worst part of the 90's (which was recreating the worst part of the 70's) again??) Might you instead perhaps consider a sublimely spirited substitute ?? This debut U.S. release from Finland's notorious bubblegum punk sensations, Have You Ever Seen The Jane Fonda Aerobic VHS? is a keyboard-driven melodic kick successfully replacing the customary/tired "rock" guitar fare. It's easy to see why they have never struggled to get people's attention. This double 7" contains 4 tracks (1 exclusive to this single) of insanely glorious and deeply infectious commotion that just may give you something to smile about and we all could use something to smile about...

MARKETING POINTS:

- Very popular group in Scandinavia, Europe and U.K.
- Infectious and a breath of fresh air in a stagnating arena
- Limited edition of 600 copies
