LIMITED EDITION OF 300 ON BLUE ICE

HEATMISER's Dead Air is still a mighty fine debut album, though more credit should probably go to ELLIOTT SMITH's co-singer/guitarist Neil Gust. There's a perhaps inevitable casting of grunge over everything given its 1993 genesis, but instead of sprawl, the emphasis is on tautness, vocals rough but not whined, more HÜSKER DÜ and MISSION OF BURMA, say, than BLACK SABBATH or BLACK FLAG. Neil Gust's knack for anthemic, empowering choruses infused with open emotional passion makes the FUGAZI comparison in particular appropriate. The songs don't waste time -- 14 in 37 minutes -- and steer away from easy singalong approaches in favor of slightly more complex headbanging with a brain and heart. "Stray," re-recorded from an earlier single, sounds fantastic, just brawling with both fierce energy and close-to-the heart empathy, not to mention a great chorus. "Bottle Rocket" is a definite winner, with some great call-and-response vocal work and a steadily building verse-into-chorus structure that's fierce without falling prey to incipient emo clichés. Every so often there's some great flash on the guitars -- check out the solo on "Dirt" -- while the rhythm section does well enough (drummer Tony Lash in particular).

MARKETING POINTS:

FOR FANS OF: LOS CRUDOS, SCOWL, PUNCH,
DESPISE YOU, INFEST, NAUSEA, DISRUPT

100 ON OPAQUE RED EXCLUSIVE TO ILD

A great hardcore punk band takes you on a journey, and VIOLENCIA brings you on a ride through a series of dystopian tales. Political, angry, talented, and hailing for Tijuana Mexico, VIOLENCIA have been tearing it up since 2019 including major tours through the west coast and DIY fest appearances. The band is like a spiritual successor or maybe non-affiliated extension of LOS CRUDOS, mixing a pissed political message and Spanish lyrics. VIOLENCIA mix dirges with blastbeats for a really varied twelve song 12" EP. Highly listenable, completely varied, and this will be an LP that is over before you know and you will flip from B side back to A and give it another listen before putting it away. In their words "El powerviolence no esta muerto!"

MARKETING POINTS:

- Up and coming band that sounds like a heavy version of SCOWL or a more extreme version of LOS CRUDOS
- Well recorded, blends fast and slow hardcore punk parts
- All vocals are in Spanish

FOR FANS OF:

CROSSED OUT, NO COMMENT,
CHARLES BRONSON, INFEST, SPAZZ

LIMITED TO 200 ON GLOW IN THE DARK BLUE VINYL.

ALSO COMES WITH A POSTER INSTEAD OF A GATEFOLD.

CROM is the ultimate amalgamation of mystery mixed with futility. They are one of the most frustratingly undefinable bands out there – mixing general metal aesthetic into a stew of subgenres ranging from sludge and doom to perfectly cultivated thrash parts and plenty of punk, hardcore, and powerviolence influence spices to get a perfect boiling mixture that has been thought about and talked about since it came out originally in 2001. The original release came out on a band member's label alongside releases from DYSTOPIA, GRIEF, EYEHATEGOD, and 16 to name a few and CROM is fully deserving to stand next to those bands. In 2023 we have taken the original masters and given them the white glove treatment and enlisted Nick Townsend whose mastering and audio work includes such big releases from JIMI HENDRIX to PEARL JAM to DR DRE to NAILS to the DIY likes of REGIONAL JUSTICE CENTER and FIREBURN. Nick worked with Phil from the band to create a perfect representation of what this release needed to sound bigger and fuller in the over twenty-year time since it came out. This definitive edition is the best sounding time capsule of what the band really encompasses and deserves. Similar attention has been given to the artwork, with freshly scanned Carlos Vera artwork and the vinyl version has the cover art sized perfectly to fit its full color cover. The resulting release will have you smashing high gravity Steel Reserve along side the band. To quote the mostly unreleased unofficial CROM documentary trailer "How does the audience respond to CROM? By either leaving or losing their fucking mind". This record will make you do the latter.

MARKETING POINTS:

- Critically important first full length of this highly mysterious band
- Major remaster with audio work done alongside band members
- Members are also in DEPISE YOU, TRAPPIST, and BIG BUSINESS
- Gorgeous full color jacket, insert, and double-sided 11x17 poster
- Highly sought after record's first remastering since its release
- Super limited repress, these are /200 on glow in the dark blue
